

Enghouse Systems Acquires Locus Holding AS

Acquisition Strengthens Position in the Fleet & Transportation Management Systems Sectors

For Immediate Release

Markham, Ontario; Sandefjord, Norway – March 1, 2013 – Enghouse Systems Limited (TSX:ESL) announced today it has successfully completed its previously announced acquisition of Locus Holding AS (“Locus”) for a purchase price of approximately $14 million, subject to certain price adjustments. Locus’s annual revenues for fiscal 2012 were approximately $18 million.

Headquartered in Sandefjord, Norway, Locus is a leading supplier of fleet management solutions for the Public Safety and Transport & Logistics (including Security) sectors in the Scandinavian market. Locus dominates the Public Safety sector in Norway. Its products are installed in all police cars, ambulances, rescue helicopters and fire brigades. Locus’s transportation, logistics and M2M products are also well established in these markets.

Locus has offices in Norway, Sweden, and Denmark. EOC Partners LLP has been Locus’s financial advisor in the transaction.

“This acquisition strengthens and broadens our capabilities in the fleet and transport management space,” stated Stephen Sadler, Chairman and CEO of Enghouse. “Locus is a clear market and technology leader in Norway with emerging positions in other markets which we intend to leverage.”

“We are excited to be a part of Enghouse and look forward to combining our resources and continuing to deliver value to our customers,” stated Arne Harry Pettersen, CEO of Locus. “Enghouse’s global reach provides an excellent platform to expand our solutions to other markets”.
