

Enghouse Systems Acquires Voxtron NV

Acquisition Expands Contact Center Presence in Europe

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Markham, Ontario; Temse, Belgium – October 3, 2014 – Enghouse Systems Limited (TSX:ESL) announced today it has acquired Voxtron NV (“Voxtron”) for a purchase price of approximately $9.4 million, subject to certain price adjustments.

Headquartered in Temse, Belgium (near Brussels), Voxtron is a provider of multi-channel contact center and dispatch solutions for small, medium and large enterprises as well as the railroads and utilities sectors. Voxtron’s key markets include Germany, Belgium, Austria, Scandinavia and the United Arab Emirates, with sales activities largely handled through a network of resellers. Voxtron has approximately 70 employees, with offices in Germany, Belgium and Austria.

“Voxtron provides Enghouse with an opportunity to further extend our scale in the German market and increases our presence in new geographic areas, combined with the addition of a solid user/channel friendly product offering,” said Steve Sadler, Chairman and CEO of Enghouse. “We are pleased to welcome Voxtron’s employees, customers and partners to our company.”

“We are very happy to join Enghouse, one of the key global players in the customer interaction sector,” said Geert Van Compennolle, CEO of Voxtron. “This is a positive outcome for our loyal customers and employees to be part of a successful and growing company.”
